

Herman's Garden

donated by
SEED SAVERS EXCHANGE

Herman believed in the power of a seed.

Seed Savers Exchange began 35 years ago as a small, out-of-the-way Missouri garden with big ambitions. Over the years, Seed Savers Exchange has been blessed with generous friends who helped us grow and prosper. Seed Savers' Heritage Farm now encompasses 890 acres of preservation gardens, trout streams, orchards, and rare cattle in a beautiful Northeast Iowa valley.

The late Herman Warsh and his wife Maryanne Mott were among our earliest and most fervent supporters. Their financial and moral support literally planted our dream in the earth. Herman's legacy of "one seed, one gift" continues to guide our work today.

Seed Savers Exchange honors the generous spirit of Herman and Maryanne with "Herman's Garden"—a new seed donation program to organizations and community gardens around the globe. We ask those who tend one of "Herman's Gardens" to offer garden advice, share the harvest, and save seeds to pass on.
